ScoreNavigator Products Disclaimer

ScoreNavigator uses data from credit reports by consumer reporting agencies, including Equifax, Experian and TransUnion. This data reflects the information available to ScoreNavigator and may not include recent activity such as payments, new accounts, or credit inquiries. Therefore, ScoreNavigator results might not reflect the most current credit status. Changes in credit reports over time can affect ScoreNavigator's results. The accuracy of ScoreNavigator products depends on the credit report data, and ScoreNavigator is not responsible for any incorrect or outdated information in these reports. If an account has not been reported or updated recently, it's assumed monthly payments were made to simulate current status. This might result in an account being paid off or closed, which could affect action outcomes. Users should review their credit reports for accuracy. ScoreNavigator is not "credit repair", and does not offer financial advice or credit counseling.

Credit Score Variations

Monthly payments are assumed for account simulations. Past due accounts will not automatically become current, and their delinquency might affect scores negatively. Accounts that are paid on time will generally reflect a positive impact over time; however other factors or changes in a credit report may also impact a score in other ways.

Warranty Disclaimer

ScoreNavigator products are provided "as is" with no warranties. ScoreNavigator and its distributors disclaim all warranties, including but not limited to merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose, and accuracy of content. ScoreNavigator does not guarantee that addressing issues found in credit reports will result in positive score changes or will not result in negative score changes. It provides information for consumers to make their own decisions and does not initiate credit report disputes or changes on behalf of users.

Notice to the Home Loan Applicant

In connection with your application for a home loan, the lender must disclose to you the score that a consumer reporting agency distributed to users and the lender used in connection with your home loan, and the key factors affecting your credit scores.

The credit score is a computer generated summary calculated at the time of the request and based on information that a consumer reporting agency or lender has on file. The scores are based on data about your credit history and payment patterns. Credit scores are important because they are used to assist the lender in determining whether you will obtain a loan. They may also be used to determine what interest rate you may be offered on the mortgage. Credit scores can change over time, depending on your conduct, how your credit history and payment patterns change, and how credit scoring technologies change.

Because the score is based on information in your credit history, it is very important that you review the credit-related information that is being furnished to make sure it is accurate. Credit records may vary from one company to another.

If you have questions about your credit score or the credit information that is furnished to you, contact the consumer reporting agency at the address and telephone number provided with this notice, or contact the lender, if the lender developed or generated the credit score. The consumer reporting agency plays no part in the decision to take any action on the loan application and is unable to provide you with specific reasons for the decision on a loan application.
